

I cant stop thinking
about the nuns
in Hollywood

MONASTERY
OF THE ANGELS
CHAPEL OF THE
PERPETUAL ADORATION

how they spend their
days throwing
prayers up in the air

and baking pumpkin bread and how the Dominican order wants to shut them down because the sisters have not been getting along this is don't they know Hollywood?

and they've been paying the rent selling pumpkin bread?

of course there is drama

It's actually
not the only
devotional
piece of property
in the area

there are plenty of
well-funded
religious societies

right
beneath
the Hollywood sign

did you know
about the actress
who joined a convent

after playing
a nun in a film?

she still votes
in the academy

may the Lord
rob this film of
best picture

amen.

Can the nuns
of Hollywood
be saved?

is there
anyone

who would buy
that much
pumpkin
bread?

if they're
gone

who will save us?
